

HONOR RETIRING TEACHERS WITH A DELIGHTFUL DINNER

Miss Barrett Taught in Bristol
47 Years; Miss Watson,
32 Years

MUSICAL PROGRAM

Faculty and School Board
Members Present Gifts
To the Two

Honor was paid last evening to two who for many years have taught in Bristol public schools, when Miss Effie Watson, principal of Harriman grade school, and Miss Margaret Barrett, for many years principal of Bath street school, were feted at a testimonial dinner by members of the faculty and of the board of directors, Bristol public school. The pleasing function took place at Washington Crossing Inn, with covers arranged for 50.

The guests of honor have for many years been members of the faculty of Bristol schools, Miss Barrett, a resident of Beaver street, teaching in Bath street building for a period of 47 years; and Miss Watson, of Fallington, having taught for 32 years in Bristol. Miss Watson will retire at the end of the school term this week. Miss Barrett retired from active service in the schools last Fall.

Although thoughts of parting from those with whom they have worked for many years wove a thread of sadness through the occasion, the evening was nevertheless a happy one because of its good fellowship, the kind words of appreciation on the part of directors and teachers; and the expressions of wishes for happiness in the years to come. Seated at small tables in the large dining room, the teachers, directors and their guests participated in a program of brief speeches, and musical numbers.

The toastmaster on this occasion was Doron Green, president of the board of directors, Bristol public schools. Mr. Green was presented to the gathering by Warren P. Snyder, superintendent of Bristol public schools. In introducing Mr. Green, Mr. Snyder told of the fine feeling among the board members and teaching staff of the schools, the co-operation given, and the good fellowship manifest on this and similar occasions. "We are gathered this evening," stated the school superintendent "to show love and appreciation for the service these two have given us."

In paying tribute to the two, Mr. Green informed the group that Miss Barrett, the former principal of the Bath street building, had taught pupils in that building for the past 47 years; and that Miss Watson had been affiliated with the Bristol faculty for the past 32 years. After reading the favorite quotations of the two who are retiring, Mr. Green gave his idea of an ideal teacher: "One who is not only educationally qualified, but one who has enthusiasm to carry on her work; one who inspires confidence and esteem in her pupils." Mr. Green continued by telling of the estimable manner in which pupils and former pupils refer to these two teachers.

Turning thoughts to a half century ago, the president of the board of directors recalled that he and Miss Barrett were schoolmates in the local schools. Miss Barrett, who graduated from the Bristol schools in 1887, was elected a teacher in 1889. Being a member of the first class to graduate here, and the only surviving member of the class of three, Miss Barrett is the oldest living graduate of Bristol public schools.

Mr. Green told of first meetings with Miss Watson when she first served here as an instructress, and he was a member of the board of directors. Miss Watson was named a member of the faculty in 1905.

"The positions these two have held in our schools will be hard to fill," added the toastmaster. "We will never forget what they have done to elevate the schools to their high standing. It is difficult to express in words our feeling toward you; we will attempt to express the deeper feelings in these gifts. They convey the respect, confidence and esteem of the board of directors." To Miss Watson was presented a table lamp, and to Miss Barrett a desk set.

Mr. Snyder introduced Miss Annie Heritage, who has been for several years associated as a teacher with the Misses Watson and Barrett. Miss Heritage gave to Miss Watson, on behalf of the teachers, a leather suitcase and hand-bag. A gift from the teachers to Miss Barrett had been presented at the time of her retirement earlier in the term.

Miss Helen Fine, representing teachers of Bath street school, and David Hertzler, high school principal, representing teachers in the high school building, presented bouquets of cut flowers to the Misses Barrett and Watson, respectively.

Heartily greeted last evening was Miss Rachel Bartine, Hyberty, who retired one year ago after a long period of service in Bristol schools. Miss Bartine was called upon for a few remarks.

In responding to her introduction, Miss Barrett remarked that "Sometimes the heart is so full there are no words, and I think I've reached that place." She expressed appreciation of

EDGELEY AND TULLYTOWN RESIDENTS AID CADETS

Contribute To Fund Being Raised for New Equipment
Of the Legion Corps

TOTAL NOW IS $745.65

While funds received will not guarantee full payment of the alterations and new uniforms necessary, all cadet corps uniforms are now in the hands of the manufacturer and the citizens of Bristol will feel justly proud of this organization on its next public appearance.

To aid this group of boys the citizens of Edgely and Tullytown have again helped to swell receipts. It is the hope of the Corps officers that those citizens of Bristol intending to contribute to their cause will do so without delay in order to assist the Corps to keep out of debt and at the same time carry on for the honor of Bristol as in the past.

LEGION JUNIORS WIN 3RD STRAIGHT VICTORY

Locals Pick Fifth Inning For A
"Merry-Go-Round"
Frame

FINAL SCORE IS 11 TO 6

By Louis Tomlinson

MORRISVILLE, June 15—Manager Bobby Hems' American Legion outfit scored their third straight victory of the current campaign here yesterday when they upset the local nine, 11-6.

The boys seem to take to a particular inning in which to push over the necessary runs to sew up the tilt. A four-run rally turned the trick in the Quakertown game in the sixth. Today it was the fifth inning that they picked as their "merry-go-round" frame. It was in that frame that they chased Johnny Ross, star Morrisville High School hurler, to the proverbial "showers," to win the game with a five-run uprising, battling all around during that chapter. The feature of the rally was a triple poled out by Harry Bauroth with the bases filled.

Manager Hems started Ott Grimes on the hill in a surprise move but the little righthander turned in a creditable performance for four innings, during which time he set Morrisville down with four scattered hits and a single tally. But in the fifth he served a home run ball up to March who promptly drove it out of the park. That wasn't so bad but with two runners on base, Hems got a little leary when three runs chased across the plate, so he gave the "out" signal to Ott and inserted southpaw Petrick in the game, and he finished, although touched for another pair of runs in the sixth.

Harry Bauroth with two singles besides his triple and a pair of walks led the Bristol stickers at the plate while Chart Tomlinson also connected for three for three and a walk. All his hits were singles, however. Johnson and Spencer each collected two hits while Newman, Tannicella and March had two safe blows for the home team.

Rescue Three of Crew of Ten

Lewes, Del., June 15—Three of the 10 men aboard the ill-fated cabin cruiser "Peal," which was submerged during a storm in Delaware Bay, were rescued, and seven bodies recovered today, according to radio reports picked up by the coast guard station here. Identity of the drowned or saved could not be established immediately, but all are believed to have been Pennsylvanians from State College and Altoona.

Finding of the bodies, all of which were kept afloat by life preservers, and the rescued, culminated a 15-hour search of choppy waters by fishermen and coast guard crews from Cape May and Lewes. The fishing party left Bowers Beach, a fishing community on the Delaware, yesterday morning, and a search for them was started when they failed to return to port with other boats of the fishing fleet.

SOUTH LANGHORNE IS PLANNING COMMENCEMENT

18 to Receive Certificates of Promotion to High School,
Tomorrow

SIX GIRLS, TWELVE BOYS

SOUTH LANGHORNE, June 15—A group of 18 pupils, students of the eighth grade, South Langhorne public school, will receive certificates of promotion to high school, tomorrow evening. Exercises are scheduled for eight o'clock, in the school house.

In keeping with the Horace Mann centennial celebration, the pupils participating will have themes revolving about his life. Mann gave up a promising law career to become secretary of the Massachusetts State Board of Education, 100 years ago next month. The choice was a turning point in his life, and in the history of American education.

Those who will graduate from the grammar school are:

Warren Knox, president; Betty Livingston, treasurer; Thelma Myers, Christopher Dunkley, David Maithe, Samuel Dalessandro, Robert Schlegel, Ursula Gillingham, Gladys Berky, Clarisse Cuffee, Charlotte Lyons, William Herschel, John Desatof, Samuel Douthart, Harry Potts, Emerson Clark, James Brodie, John Ziegler.

The rummage sale conducted a few days ago in Second Baptist Church, Race street, is being continued this week in the church basement.

Miss Norma Wenzel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wenzel, Fairview Lane, was operated upon for appendicitis yesterday, in Bryn Mawr Hospital.

She Thought It Was a Man

By "The Stroller"
A well-known woman the other night was walking over Adams Hollow Creek bridge at Pond street, when she heard a noise which she thought was the call of a man for help. She at once had visions of a man drowning in the creek and her heart was touched.

Running back to the nearest store the woman in question summoned help, informing a group of men that a man was drowning. They hastily procured flashlights and went to the creek with the woman. The lights flashed back and forth across the creek, but the would-be rescuers could not locate any man.

Suddenly a frog was heard to croak. "There he is," cried the anxious woman.

"That's a frog," chorused the men.

With their flashlights under their arms they departed for their homes.

TWO BRISTOL WOMEN START DIVORCE ACTIONS

One Alleges Cruel and Barbarous Treatment; Another
Charges Desertion

COMMON PLEAS COURT

DOYLESTOWN, June 15—Two Bristol women have filed libels in divorce in the Court of Common Pleas.

Mrs. Helen Campbell has started action charging her husband, Harry, with cruel and barbarous treatment. According to the libel, they were married February 19, 1928, in Bristol. The present address of the libellant is 1801 Farragut avenue, and the last known address of the respondent is 442 Logan street, Bristol. The alleged cruel and barbarous treatment began October 28, 1932, the libellant avers.

Mrs. Helen Lovett, 345 Hayes street, has filed suit against her husband, Richard, 538 Swain street, for divorce. Mrs. Lovett charges desertion April 9, 1932, at Bristol.

Geraldine McCoy, 20-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clark V. McCoy, Hatfield R. D. No. 1, who lives at Unionville on the Bethlehem Pike was awarded a damage claim of $2250 at a hearing held before Judge Calvin S. Boyer in the Court of Common Pleas.

A settlement was reached between the minor plaintiff, who claimed damages amounting to $2250 in her own behalf, and the sum of $450 in behalf of her parents, Clark V. and May McCoy, and the defendant, Alpheus E. Reading, Jr., Cedar Hill Road, Chalfont R. D. No. 1. The parents' claim also was paid.

Miss McCoy, who suffered a compound, comminuted fracture of the left elbow and may never regain the full use of her arm, was walking along Route 309, near Unionville, October 7, when she was struck by a car driven by the defendant.

Because of the injury sustained, she will not be able to run a typewriter nor pursue a business course. It may result in permanent handicap.

In a statement of claim filed by the minor plaintiff, a business school student, and her parents, it was alleged that a hospital bill at the Elm Terrace Hospital, Lansdale, amounted to $239.50 and that specialists' fees totaled $150 and $60.50 apiece.

A friend of the family, who resides in Philadelphia, was appointed the guardian for Miss McCoy and will see to it that the money is expended only for medical aid in order to restore her arm to full use if possible.

WEEDS ON VACANT LOTS COMPLAINED OF TO BOROUGH COUNCIL

Some Are Being Used As
Dumps, It Is Reported
To Council

WANT ACTION TAKEN

Sewing Project to Make Garments For the Bucks
County Home

Vacant lots overgrown with weeds and in some instances being used as public dumps were given consideration by borough council last night. Two vigorous complaints were lodged with council. One was about the lot on Mansion street adjacent to Beaver Fire Station and the other was one on Garden street near Jefferson avenue. Both complaints were referred to the Board of Health and action will be taken at once to have both lots cleaned and the weeds cut.

After the objections had been filed about the two lots in question it was called to the attention of council that there are many other vacant pieces of ground in the borough, where the weeds have grown to an unsightly height and some of these are located along the main arteries of travel in the town.

Council decided to withhold, until after the next meeting, publication of the names of those delinquent with their water rents. It was reported that $7500 has been paid on delinquent rents, thus far, and that a number of people have made partial payment and therefore it was decided to afford them more opportunity to complete their payments.

Councilman Winslow presented a communication received from the Board of Health in which it was stated that legislation enacted at Harrisburg and signed by Governor Earle practically invalidates the borough plumbing code. The communication was accompanied by a copy of the law. It was referred to the borough solicitor for an opinion.

Police reported making four arrests during May and that one had been held for court and three fined. Fifty-one lodgers were sheltered, 12 incandescent and five arc lights were reported out during the month. Three doors were found open.

Sewing project reported having distributed 1545 garments through the following channels: Borough Council, 742; Red Cross, 454; Langhorne Welfare, 145; Nursing School, 63; Mothers Assistance, 17; Torresdale-Andalusia Needlework Guild, 17.

Council approved of the sewing project making garments for the Bucks County Home, providing the County Commissioners furnished the material. The work will require about one day bi-weekly.

Councilman DeGroot complained of a hole in Lafayette street from which water is running day and night and stagnates. Mr. Roberts reported that this was due to broken water service pipe of a private property owner who had refused to make the necessary repairs and that the water department was going to discontinue the service within the next day or so.</

BIGGER AND BETTER

That old-time favorite, In The Good Old Summertime, has an especial significance this summer, with the nation starting on the road to economic recovery.

It is not apparent at this late day what inspired the composer to write this roundelay with its joyous lilt and elation, but if he were to write it today all the world would understand and be in sympathy with him. Artificial inspiration from a jug of cider would be superfluous.

A business superstition as old as, if not older than, the summer song maintained that when summer came in the window business flew out the door. The "summer slump" was a reality to the business man because he believed in it and did nothing to stop it.

This summer is a living refutation of that superstition. Instead of slumping, business is experiencing a rebirth, a revival. Summer is making business, not killing it. It can not take all the credit, but no one is in the mood for quibbling over such trifles at such a time.

It is a good old summertime when people are returning to work, when all lines of retail business report appreciable gains, when the building industry gets its first substantial taste of business in five years and when money starts to flow again.

CALL OF THE WEST

Charles Hooper, native New Yorker who went West twenty-four years ago and made good, annexing the title of champion letter writer by writing 78,000 letters to newspapers in all parts of the world, is going West again.

Hooper returned to New York City last November and, in lengthy newspaper interviews, said he was through with the West, intimating that it wasn't so hot anyhow and his adopted town of Coeur D'Alene, Idaho, was p-f-f-t.

Now Hooper is on his way to San Francisco to, as he announced, settle permanently in the West. He didn't fool anyone though with that San Francisco touch. That was put out as a "feeler" to see whether Coeur D'Alene would extend the olive branch.

NO EVOLUTION

The people of Tennessee are a hardy lot, so it will not be surprising if prominent Tennesseans boil with rage when they read the latest notices in the press from their fair state.

Hardly had national indignation over the marriage of a nine-year-old girl to a hillbilly in Tennessee subsided when the next news account of the doings of the anti-evolution state appeared. It chronicled the death of a "plover wife," whose husband worked her to death pulling a plow.

Well, Tennessee fought for the right to prevent evolution from taking hold in the state, with the able assistance of Bill Bryan, and it appears to have succeeded.

Tennessee's two United States Senators were in favor of the Supreme Court packing scheme before it was sidetracked by the vehement protest of an aroused nation. None of the protests, so far as heard, came from Tennessee.

A man can forgive a hurt to his person or bank roll, but woe to the friend who hurts his vanity.

Self-respect saves you money. You don't need a high-priced car to make you feel like somebody.

HULMEVILLE

Miss Kathleen Webb received her degree of Bachelor of Science in Home Economics yesterday morning, when exercises were conducted in Irvine Auditorium, University of Pennsylvania. Miss Webb completed her course at the Drexel Institute of Technology, Philadelphia, in the Spring of 1936.

Seventeen tables were required for the players who gathered at the card party of the Ladies Auxiliary in William Penn Fire Company station, Friday evening. High scorer in the pinhole games was Mrs. Pearl Wilson, score 636. The sum of $32.36 was realized. Refreshments of sandwiches, strawberries, ice cream and cake were enjoyed.

HOT WEATHER SALADS OFFER SURE CURE FOR MENU MONOTONY

SAYS EDNA M. FERGUSON

Dear Friends:
June, July, August. Summer days are upon us and warm days call for salads just as surely as July fourth calls for flags and picnics.

Of course, you may be one of the true salad lovers who serves a salad every day all the year 'round. Whether you toss a green salad in French dressing, or mold one of gelatine with fruits or vegetables, or contrive one of meat or potatoes for your main dish, will depend on the temperature, your taste, or perhaps the contents of the ice-box.

There is one invariable rule for successful salads. The weather and you yourself may be witty, but the salad must be crisp and should be served direct to the table from the refrigerator.

Another important point with salads is the seasoning. Correct seasoning is as necessary for salads as for soups, and the wise cook will sample the contents of her salad bowl carefully before serving, remembering that taste saves waste. Paprika will add color as well as flavor to salads, and chopped chives, celery seed, parsley, herbs and sauces add piquancy.

Early morning marketing is essential to the success of a green salad, for then the home manager has a wide choice of fresh, crisp materials. When they are washed, prepared and immediately transferred to the chill section of the refrigerator, the flavor and quality are far better and the greens last much longer.

Scientists agree that salad greens, particularly escarole, are rich in vitamin A qualities that build and maintain bodily vigor and resistance to minor ailments.

Dr. H. C. Sherman of Columbia University, regarded by other food experts as the country's leading authority on the relation between vitamins and health, lists escarole as something that not only helps to keep people healthy at any age, but as an aid toward extending energy into the rocking-chair age.

Other materials to put in the salad, all rich in vitamin A, are lettuce, tomato, spinach and grated carrot. Of course, too, there are celery, chicory, endive, appetizing watercress, cucumbers, peppers and radishes. Such cooked vegetables as green beans, beets and peas combine well with green salads and with the gelatine molds.

Rub the salad bowl with a cut clove of garlic and shred the lettuce, or break apart the greens. Cut the vegetables into pieces of suitable size. Then add the French dressing slowly, so that when the mixture is tossed lightly with a wooden fork and spoon, every bit of the salad will be marinated before serving.

As for the dressing, harken to this advice from the presiding genius in one of New York's leading restaurants:

"I'm perfectly all right," she said, again and again, "No, we haven't quarrelled, where did you get such a crazy idea?" But Mrs. Ward could scent trouble as a cat can. She followed Rose about the living room, watched her pick up a book and fling it down again, watched her poke needlessly at the fire, watched her finger objects on the table, watched her pick up a vase and permit it to slide through her fingers and shatter on the floor.

"I must say," commented Mrs. Ward tartly, "that you don't act normal to me." She left the room, annoyed, to return with a dustpan and broom and when Rose, remorseful, went to her assistance, pushed her aside. "For goodness sake no—! You make me nervous—you'll probably cut yourself or something."

Matters were not mended when Mrs. Ward, returning from the disposal of the broken glass, found her daughter thoughtfully smoking one of Jonathan's cigarettes. Rose rarely smoked. Her mother disapproved, she herself didn't like it especially and moreover Riverport was of the opinion that its school teachers should set an example. Riverport knew well enough that its students smoked, some of them at a very early age, but it closed its eyes to that. However, it would open them wide enough if it ever saw one of its female educators polluting her fair lips with the reprehensible weed.

"Well!" said Mrs. Ward, surveying her.

Rose explained absently, "Jonathan left a pack here." She coughed a little, being more or less a novice and finding, besides, that the cigarette was dry. She thought; They say it calms your nerves . . . well, we'll see.

The door bell rang. Rose looked at the clock. It was early, perhaps Jonathan hadn't had a very heavy office. In relief she almost ran to the door, the cigarette between her fingers.

Her mother said thankfully, "Perhaps Jonathan can do something with you," and went off toward the kitchen murmuring, "he'll want a cup of coffee . . ." It being her fixed idea that Jonathan could enjoy no coffee but her own.

Rose opened the door, and then stepped back, astonished. For it wasn't Jonathan; and her astonishment held no pleasure, as it was Larry Dexter.

He looked at her and smiled a little, his regard including her hair, disheveled from the many times she had thrust her fingers through it, and the cigarette she still held. He asked coolly, "May I come in, Miss Ward? I'm sorry to disturb you, but it's important."

"Of course," she told him and stood back to let him enter. He seemed entirely at ease, and as she followed him into the living room she thought—I believe he's been drinking.

There was just a suspicion of swagger in his walk and the odor of liquor was perfectly plain. He took off his racoon coat and let it fall to a chair, followed by the hat he held in his hand. He said, "I don't suppose you are surprised to see me."

She wasn't, she assured herself, surprised in the dictionary sense. In the accepted and erroneous sense she was however, and admitted mildly.

You needn't drive around Bristol in anything less than a Packard!

We will sell you a PACKARD SIX . . . for only a dollar or two more a week than it costs to buy any car in the "LOW-PRICED FIVE"

Our figures, shown here, prove it is literally true that . . . almost everyone who can afford to buy any new car, can afford to buy a Packard!

And these figures explain why more than half the people who have bought Packard Sixes have stepped up from the "low-priced five."

But the ease with which you can buy a Packard is only half the story. For, after you get it, it will cost you NO MORE to keep up than any of these low-priced cars—and we can prove it.

Let us appraise your old car. It will probably cover the down payment on a Packard Six—if so, the remaining payments may be as little as $25 a month. Come see why it's plain common sense not to be content with anything less than a Packard.

ASK THE MAN WHO OWNS ONE

Here are the figures for Bristol, based on required down payment percentages and uniform number of monthly payments

CAR A—$1.60 more a week buys a Packard Six
CAR B—$1.95 more a week buys a Packard Six
CAR C—$1.93 more a week buys a Packard Six
CAR D—$2.05 more a week buys a Packard Six
CAR E—$1.07 more a week buys a Packard Six

Rain last night interrupted what had the earmarks of one of the best boxing cards ever held in this vicinity in amateur boxing. Four fights were held before Jupe Pluvius decided to take command, and each of the four were packed with thrills from start to finish. The last round of the fourth fight was fought despite the rain beating down on the bodies of the warriors.

Match-Maker Sammy Moffo last night announced that several extra bouts will be given to the fans next week and that several of the bouts fought last night will be re-matched, as all fighters were evenly matched. According to Moffo, the remaining seven bouts booked would have given the spectators the best show ever produced here.

Only one St. Ann's mittman had a chance to strut his stuff last night. He was a newcomer—Anthony Astrino, known as Tony Pete. Astirino met Angelo Grisolio, Corsac, and gave him a three-round boxing lesson. The Bristolian carried every one of the sessions and upper-cutted his opponent unmercifully.

Several times during the fight, Grisolio's head popped up straight because of a hook, and more than once his knees sagged as the result of a hard blow. The best Grisolio could do was to get into clinches and pound the Bristolian about the head.

The first bout of the night ended after two minutes and five seconds of the first round. Anthony Petrecelli's left proved too much for the colored Herman Sewell, Sigma Theta. Previous to the knockout punch, Petrecelli had delivered four fast lefts to the colored boy's body. The fifth sent Sewell down for a short count of two, but when he arose, another attack sent him down for the full count.

Anthony, this time with the surname Buccell, and from the Pen-Mar Club, won easily over Rosel Johnson, Sigma Theta. Johnson started the fireworks with a long left to the jaw of Buccell. This blow hurt, and the Pen-Mar boy more than made up for it when he found the range of Johnson's heart and began to sink his left below it.

In the second round, Buccell again began a wicked attack on Johnson's body, but could not floor him until the close of the round, when a left made Johnson hit the canvas. The bell saved him and he was revived at his corner.

The final round saw Johnson pull the "Gene Tunney" act and cycle away from Buccell for almost the entire round.

The rain failed to stop Leon Swartz, Newsboy A. C., from whipping Sammy Henderson, Sigma Theta. This bout was full of action for the entire three rounds. From the opening gong on, both youths were in there swinging wild blows with both hands and doing plenty of damage to each other.

Swartz's aggressiveness carried him the entire three sessions. In the final round, while the rain was pouring down, Swartz appeared to be hitting Henderson with everything except the ring posts, but the colored boy managed to weather the storm, and although beaten decisively, failed to kiss the canvas.

Bouts will be held again next Monday night.

GILBERT TOO MUCH FOR ODD FELLOWS' NINE

The hooks of Gordon Gilbert proved too much for the Odd Fellows last night on the Edgely diamond as the Rohm & Haas team pulled the biggest surprise of the first half of the Bristol Twilight League by whitewashing the Oddies, 1-0. With the defeat, the first half hopes of the Odd Fellows grew very dim.

HIBERNIANS CLINCH FIRST HALF IN LEAGUE

The first half of the Bristol Twilight League was practically clinched by the Hibernians last night as they trounced the Superior Zinc Corporation nine, 13-1, on Leedom's field. As the Odd Fellows were beaten the Hibbs are now in first place by two full games.

"Billy" Gallagher, former Bristol High hurler, was on the bill for the Hibbs and he sailed the pitches past the Superior batters so fast that they could only collect four hits. One of these a double by Swope accounted for the losers' only run.

Manager Bleakney of the Zinc Company team used Cummons on the mound and neither appeared to have anything on the ball except the cover. A total of fourteen hits were made by the Hibbs' batsmen.

Leading the winners' attack was Sid Purcell who smacked out two doubles and a single and scored four markers.

ANNOUNCE LANDRETH SCHEDULE FOR THE WEEK

Manager Dave Landreth of the Landreth Seeds team last night announced the schedule of the week for his club. Tomorrow night, it faces the strong Black Meteors, of Philadelphia, on the home diamond. Friday night, another home game will be played when the Mannington Mills team of Salem comes here.

Sunday's attraction on Landreth's diamond will be the fast R. D. Wood team, and next Wednesday Landreth's goes to Beverly. Next Friday, Mount Holly will be the Landreth opponent. Manager Landreth is also completing negotiations with the Cape May Collegians and two clubs in Atlantic City.

If the fans support the local club, a major league club will appear here before the season comes to a close. Just who will come is not known at the present time.
